PAID $450 FOR A SURF BATH.

MIDNIGHT SPECIAL TRAIN FROM PHILADELPHIA TO THE SEA.

Baltimore Bloods, Seized With Sudden Desire for a Dip in the Ocean, Make a Record Run to Atlantic City-W. Va. Millionaire Tries to Buy 23-Story Meal.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3 .- Seized with a frenzied desire to take a surf bath at midnight, Henry Pratt Janes and James Addison Thompson of Baltimore early this morning engaged a special train on the Pennsylvania Railroad and made a record breaking trip to Atlantic City.

Their exploit so excited J. M. Richards, the West Virginia mine owner, who has been cutting a dash here while spending a roll of $51,000 pin money, that, by way of a counter attraction, he professed disactisfaction with the height of the twenty-two story roof garden of the Bellevue-Stratford. and demanded to have a special table placed for him on top of one of the towers. He was refused. Mr. James and Thompson are members of Baltimore's social set and belong to the Maryland Club, the Bachelors' Cotillion and many others. They arrived at the Bellevue-Stratford at midnight, having made a trip from New York by automobile. After engaging apartments they decided they were not

"I feel like a bath in the surf," exclaimed Janes. "When can I get a train to Atlantic City?"

Assured that there was no train until daybreak, Mr. Janes cried: Order me a locomotive. Make it a big one. I must have that bath right away."

The Pennsylvania officials were willing to be accommodating for $830, but they wanted the train to start from Camden. "No Camden for mine," said Mr. Janes. I am on a pleasure trip and do not intend to run all around Philadelphia to get a I must start from Broad street station. His demand was met with a price of $450 and Mr. Janes and Mr. Thompson boarded the train at 12:52 A. M.

After their plunge at precisely 2:15 A. M. Mr. Janes returned to Philadelphia upon the special, while Mr. Thompson did not return until this evening on a regular train. The interest aroused by their expensive bath had greatly depressed Mr. Richards, whose $90,000 diamond shirt stud and ability to make money fly had been the chief topic of conversation among the hotel employees

Mr. Richards was particularly fond of dropping into various stores and requesting change for a $10,000 bill. Feeling that his nose had been temporarily put out of joint by the man from Baltimore, after his experience on the roof garden, he left town to get fresh strength.

CIVIL SERVICE IN CANAL ZONE. Commissioner Cooley to Discuss the Subject With the President To-day.

WASHINGTON Sept. 3 .- One of the matters Civil Service Commissioner Cooley will take up with President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay to-morrow relates to employees on the Isthmus of Panama. The civil service rules in certain respects have not worked satisfactorily in the Canal Zone, especially in the employment of roadmasters, rodmen, foremen and other miscellaneous helpers between the grades of ordinary labor and the clerical force.

The merit system works well with the executive force, and no attempt is made to apply it to the great army of laborers, but for the intermediate group the qualifications are peculiar, personal courage and practical experience being the most essential.

Chief Engineer Stevens wanted this class of employees excepted from the rules, and so wrote the President. Commissioner Cooley was inclined to assent to the withdrawal, but Chairman Shonts objected, great protection against the importunities of persons seeking places through political

He suggested the establishment of half a dozen employment agencies at labor centers in the United States, to be in charge of men capable of picking out the right kind of workmen required on the Isthmus. If approved by the President this plan

The case of Oscar J. Ricketts, foreman of printing in the Government printing office, whose resignation has been called for by Public Printer Palmer, will also be discussed at the conference between the President and Commissioner Cooley.

STARTER CURLY BROWN STABBED Well Known Horseman Victim of Brutal

Assault in Cincinnati. CINCINNATI, Sept. 3.—When H. D. Brown resented the insult and four other men attacked him with fists and feet. Brown was making headway against the odds when one of the men drew a knife and slashed him under the left shoulder. Brown fought the men off and went to his room with little assistance.

The police arrested Shirley Lowe, a fireman of Newport, Ky. and Archie Dick of this city and Mrs. Brown identified them, but neither as the knife user. Dr. Robert Caruthers, who is attending Brown said

The knife wound in Mr. Brown's back is about five inches long and an inch and a half deep. I do not think the lung was touched by the knife. He possibly may resume his duties as starter at Latonia in three or four days."

PRINCES IN MOSCOW RAID. Police Force Meeting of Reformers There to Disperse.

Special Cable Despatch to TRE SUN. LONDON, Sept. 4 .- A despatch to the Standard from Moscow says that the police on Saturday envered the house of M. No. vosilbeff, where thirteen prominent men were assembled to discuss the line of action to take in the future in regard to the National Duma.

Those present included Princes Paul and Peter Dolgorukoff, Prince Eugene Troubetskoy, Prince Shakhovsky, M. Shepkin, who was largely responsible for the text of the socalled Moscow constitution, M. Jakushkin, who drew up the grand remonstrance adopted by the recent congress of zemstvoists and several other distinguished members of the reform party.

The meeting was ordered, in the name the Governor-General, to disperse Those present asserted that it was perfectly legal for them to assemble in a private house, and they declined to obey the order to disperse. The police declared that they must use force, for which they were prepared. The meeting thereupon dis-

TRAGEDY OF AN ARTIST'S LOVE

TALENTED FIANCEE DROWNED BEFORE HIS EYES.

Both Had Won Scholarships and Were Working Together in France—He Had Been a Hunchback and to Be Fair in

Her Eyes Had Undergone Operation. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. s .- With the return to this city of the body of Miss Helen Hunt, the young artist who was drowned last month in Bayonne, France, comes the disclosure of her life romance. Bringing the girl's body back to this city came J. J. Boyle, who from a hunchback breaker boy in the coal mines has become an artist of the first rank and whose marriage to Miss Hunt would have taken place this

Few of the friends of Miss Hunt in this city were aware that she was engaged. The story of her meeting with Mr. Boyle forms a romance, and its tragic close has plunged the young man into a melancholy that is worrying his friends. Mr. Boyle has won wide recognition as an artist, although the struggle upward was most difficult. His health was ruined by his work in the breakers and while still a boy he became an invalid. Confined to his bed, he began to draw pictures upon the wall wherever he could reach, and the merit in these early efforts attracted the attention of a physician who was attending him.

The physician restored the boy to some degree of strength and secured him entry to the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. There he made quick advancement and about eight years ago won a two years scholarship abroad.

He had met Miss Hunt in the school and had fallen deeply in love with her. That he might appear fair to her he went into a Paris hospital and underwent a difficult and dangerous operation and for several months was confined in a plaster cast. The operation was completely successful and the hunchback breaker boy artist returned to the world a straight young man.

His first recognition abroad came with the admission of a large cavas from his brush to the Paris Salon. This was entitled much attention. He sprang at once to a Miss Hunt had won the same scholarship from the Academy, and the two were enabled to be together abroad. Miss Hunt owed much of her quick success to the influence of Mr. Boyle. The two went on sketching trips about Paris and it was an open secret that they were to be married this fall.

CHASED INTO COP'S ARMS.

Crowd Jump Off Car to Pursue Alleged Pickpocket-"Hard Luck," Said He. A pickpocket almost caused a panic among the passengers on a Hamburg avenue car last evening, at Rockaway and Liberty avenues, East New York. A number of passengers were so angry that they left the car in pursuit of the thief, who ran into the arms of Policeman Stark The robbery occurred almost directly in front of the Liberty avenue police station. Samuel Glazer, a merchant, of 405 Rockaway avenue, was pushing his way through the crowded car to alight when he felt a tug at his vest pockef. LABOR DAY EXODUS. To-day's Celebration Expected to Be Quiet Affair. It is expected that to-day's celebration of Labor Day will be very quiet in the city. Never before have so many persons gone out of town for the Saturday to Tuesday holiday. Workingmen and their families. as well as employers and clerks, have gone with the general exodus.

It has been a quiet year for labor. Interborough affair, the only big strike, stirred up very little interest. It takes a Sam Parks year to bring out a big parade, and therefore the number of men in line of the Central Federated Union parade to-day will probably be small. The union leaders estimate 50,000, but observers put their guesses as low as 15,000. Nearly all the railroad and steamboat ines announce excursions. Among the excursions scheduled are the following: On the Erie Railroad to Shohola Glen; the steamer Mary Powell to West Point; the New Jersey Central to Mauch Chunk; the steamers Nantasket and Saga-more to Great Neck, Sea Cliff and Glen-wood; the steamer Richard Peck up Long Island Sound to New Haven; the steamers Rosedale, John Sylvester and Richmond to Rockaway Beach.

In all there will be eight divisions in the parade which will range themselves and fall in line at the proper time on either side of Fifth avenue from Fifty-seventh street to Forty-fourth street after the grand marshal and his aides, headed by a platoon of police, start from Fifty-ninth street.

UNIONS COMPLAIN TO PALLAS Because Non-Union Men Are Doing Park

Asphalting at Non-Union Rates. Park Commissioner Pallas, who is still ooked upon as identified with the labor movement because he is a member of the Actors' Protective Union and the Patternmakers' Union, as well as president of the Workingmen's State Federation, is again to be called upon by the Central Federated Union to see that union wages are paid for municipal work.

This decision was the result of a complaint made by the delegate of the Cement and Asphalt Workers' Union at yesterday's meeting of the C. F. U. that the Sicilian Asphalt Company is employing non-union men at St. Gabriel's Park, Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth streets and Second avenue, where the company has a contract for the asphalting.

The delegate said that he first reported the matter to the manager of the company and asked for the employment of union men. The manager was perfectly willing to employ union men if they worked for the same rates as the men now on the job, but the delegate would not agree to this. It was then decided to write to Park Commissioner Pallas, asking him to use his good offices to induce the company to employ union men at union wages on this contract.

Mrs. Ferrest Comptains Bitterly of Her Arrest-Intermediate Marriages Not Important Enough to Count-Says Told Last Husband of First.

PATERSON, Sept. 3 .- Mrs. Florence Ferrest, who was arrested Saturday night on charges of bigamy and committed to jail under $1,000 bail, when she acknowledged that she had several living husbands in this and other cities, does not believe she has done anything wrong. She said when seen in jail to-day that she had left her first husband, Michael Chabbenou, whom she married in Lambertville in 1895, because of bruelty. She says there was also another woman in the case. After leaving Lambertville she claims to have worked as a domestic, and says that she married no one in the meantime, although this contradicts a statement she made before Justice Cohen in which she made the assertion that the name of her second husband would not be given out, as she loved him too much to get him into trouble. She denies two marriages in New Hope, Pa.

social secretary a note inviting a well known literary man to visit us about the middle of September, and the note was put into our mail bag. Half an hour later I received by morning post a note from the man, cordially accepting my invitation for the first week in September. I had entirely forgotten that I had previously invited him, but of course his note recalled the fact. I had a moment of heart failure, but by swift work we rescued my note before the mail bag reached the local post office; and hereafter we shall keep a record."

ADDICKS HEARS HIS FATE. Delaware State Chairman Declares He Is Politically a Dead One.

Dover, Del., Sept. 3 .-- J. Edward Addicks, hearing of the movement among his associates to throw him out of politics, yesterday in the Delaware newspapers which he owns and edits asked his opponents to state their position.

"I used to take my sodas and phosphates out of drug store glasses the same as the rest of the masses, but one day I happened to be sitting where I could see the clerk dable his tumblers in that little pool behind the counter. That was enough for me. Since then I carry my own glass and drink out of that. If I don't happen to have it handy I fall back on beer." chairman and active head of Addicks's Union Republican party, said in an interview that Addieks is a dead one politically and can never be elected to the Senate.
"I would be false to myself and doubly false to Mr. Addicks were I, in the face of undeniable and; as I now believe, unalterable conditions, to lead him on in the belief or even in the hope that he can be elected a United States Senator from Delaware.

"That hope is dead."
It is expected that Addicks will immediately demand the resignation of Senator Allee as State chairman of the Union Republican party. This Allee will refuse, and probably will tell Addicks that he has his remady. medy. Addicks will, it is believed, ask five mem

And Arthur had straightened them. On the eighth morning he rebelled.

"What on earth ails the things?" he said.

"Why won't they hang straight? I believe the house it haunted."

"Not a bit of it," said the man who was fixing the windows. "They have the tipping habit. The walls are responsible for it. They must be a little out of plumb. I've come across many such walls, even in brand new houses. To all appearances they are on the level, but in reality they slant a little, thereby making it impossible to keep pictures in position." bers of the State committee to call a special meeting.

Here is where Addicks will learn his fate.
He will find that every member of the committee, except Addicks himself, has been taken into the confidence of Allee and that the committeemen have advised the present

Up Below the Cataract. NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 3 .- This norning at 7 o'clock the crew of the steamer Maid of the Mist picked up the body of a man in the river below the Falls, and it was towed to the Canadian shore. A few days ago F. E. Hunsberger of Fenwick, Ont., was here looking for Daniel Hughes. his brother-in-law, who had written home saying that he intended to commit suicide at Niagara. The body found resembled the description of Hughes, and the conclusion was reached that it was Hughes. Mrs. Hughes, however, says that it is not the body of her husband, as there is no scar on the right arm and no gold in a front tooth.

The body is that of a young man who wore lace shoes and black hose with white feet. His laundry mark was C. X. X. There is no question that the body came over the Falls.

eating. Then each was seen to glance furtively at a neighbor, only to be met by a return glance of stony, well bred impassivity; and the eating continued, daintily but heroically. When at length the dessert reached the hostess she gave it one startled glance, then looked hastily around the table and burst into helpless laughter. The guests had been served with the hard sauce, which was intended as a dressing for the real dessert, and they had been bravely consuming the rich mass of butter and sugar. CAME HOME TO DEAD HUSBAND. Wife Returns From the Country to Find had been spending a few days in the country and Deutschman had been living alone. They came home yesterday and found the door locked. They could learn nothing of Deutschman's whereabouts. Mrs. Deutschman, was frightened and called a policeman who broke open the door. The man had apparently been dead for some time. He had been last seen on Aug. 31 by the janitor of the building.

Mrs. Deutschman was prostrated. She could give no reason for her husband's act as she had left him in the best of spirits and had hurried back to give him a pleasant surprise.
